

Please complete the appropriate section:

A. Web-based audio/videoconferencing consent form (e.g. Skype)

I agree to the following terms and conditions applying to a psychological therapy service provided via the use of internet-based audio/videoconferencing technology by Dr Jan van Niekerk, Clinical Psychologist. Both parties accept responsibility to undertake the following:

- That they are in an appropriate environment when providing or receiving the service (it is strongly recommended that this entails being alone in a room with the door closed)
- Introduce the following minimum safeguards to promote secure and confidential transfer of information: password-protected access to their computer and to the web service hosting the audio/videoconferencing application
- Take the following precautions to ensure that their computer systems are protected from viruses and other potentially destructive programs: up to date anti-virus software (if appropriate) and audio/videoconferencing software, and a personal firewall
- To inform the other party and obtain full written consent before making or distributing any recordings of sessions

I accept that the security and confidentiality of data transmitted electronically via the internet using an audio/videoconferencing application may be compromised by unforeseen impediments, despite the aforementioned precautions, and Jan van Niekerk accepts no liability for any such breaches that may occur.

B. Telephonic appointment consent form (e.g. using your mobile network or landline)

I agree to the following terms and conditions applying to a psychological therapy service provided telephonically by Dr Jan van Niekerk, Clinical Psychologist. Both parties accept responsibility to undertake the following:

- That they are in an appropriate environment when providing or receiving the service (it is strongly recommended that this entails being alone in a room with the door closed)
- To inform the other party and obtain full written consent before making or distributing any recordings of sessions

I accept that the security and confidentiality of data transmitted telephonically may be compromised by unforeseen impediment, despite the aforementioned precautions, and Jan van Niekerk accepts no liability for any such breaches that may occur.
